

Genevieve Fidow (left)

Genevieve is a NZ-born Samoan raised in South Auckland. She worked with a large international aid and development agency where she worked her way up from a junior position to Human Resource Manager and other roles with national responsibilities.

Genevieve's desire to help individuals reach their personal goals and dreams prompted a career change into personal development. She began coaching adult learners in South Auckland, on personal development and employment skills through an education initiative. From there, she moved into coaching clients of Work and Income, both into employment and helping those new to employment.

Genevieve discovered ACN through a family member who invited her and her sister along to a home presentation. Despite having no prior network marketing experience or experience in owning a traditional business, Genevieve and her sister Jacinta, both recognised the opportunity as an answer to prayer because they were looking for an opportunity that could help their family financially, and they got started immediately in December 2006.

One of their dreams was to buy a new home for their mother who had raised her 4 daughters on her own after their father passed away. They were able to realise this dream six months after they started with ACN. Two months after they moved into their new home Genevieve finished full-time work to concentrate on their ACN business which had expanded into Australia.

Genevieve and Jacinta reached the position of Team Co-ordinator after 18-months and look forward to helping others realise their dreams. "ACN is a vehicle that is helping us to bless more people, and we know that the best is yet to come. We're very excited about the future."