

Dave Neilson

Born and raised in Dunedin NZ, and qualified as an accountant in 1955, Dave spent many years working in the corporate world as an accountant, traditional business owner, company manager and company director. During that time Dave was involved in many industries with a mixture of successes and failures, though he now looks back on the latter as “learning curves,” not failures.

Following 40 years of hard work and commitment to reach the “top of the ladder” of the corporate world (so to speak) – a position that many of Dave's peers never reached, Dave realised that the ladder he was climbing was resting on the wrong house! After all those years of work & commitment, Dave had nothing to show for it. However, during the latter part of that experience, Dave realise he still had a huge dream – a vision of what he wanted to do in life, but knew that “exchanging his time for dollars” was never going to have him achieve his goal.

After years of trying network marketing and beginning to understand it, Dave realised that success in this Industry was the only way to achieve his goal – his vision.

In mid-2004 he had the good fortune to be introduced to ACN before the Company even launched in Australia or New Zealand through a contact made some years previous. Immediately upon seeing the numbers and potential of this Company, he realised he had just been introduced to the “How” in making his dreams become a reality. More than that, he states, he had found the way to help many more people realise their dreams and aspirations in life.

Being now “retired”, Dave's life and time is devoted to helping others realise that without Residual Income people are effectively broke – and that anything one desires in life can become a reality – and that all one needs to be exceedingly successful in life, is a clear vision of where they are going in life, and a simple, but proven “System” to follow. ACN has the “Product,” the “Proven System,” and by working together as a Team with Team Alliance, we can all have success and achieve far more.